

Editing Controls – Section Control

Section Control

Use this control to divide your website into Sections.

The menu provides a means of navigating around the site. The background of the current section will turn gray to indicate what section you are viewing. Also, the section name appears in the page header.

The menu has a default section named "Home". You can add as many sections as you'd like.

The sections shown in the menu will remain the same on each page of your website so you will only need to edit them once.

Section Control Editing

This is a view of the control with the page in Edit Mode.

Editing

Section Name – Name the section.

First Page in Section – Each section links to an initial default page. See Page Types Guide for more information on types.

Show/Hide Section - You can Show or Hide pages at any time. If you add pages to a section, and then hide it, the information will return if you show it again later.

Menu Order - Sections will show in the menu in ascending order. Sections with the same number will sort alphabetically. The Home section is set to zero by default.

Delete – If you delete the section, all information and any pages in that section will be deleted permanently.

To set the Grid's colors, border and backgrounds, use Page or Site Formatting.

The online Grades page is used for displaying grades from the inetGrades program only.

This is where students and parents will access grades. You can't make any modifications to this page. Just be sure it shows if you're using the grading program.
